My professional road has been marked by 3 main points:
Customer Service, Professional-Spanish Tutoring and Academic Research.

I'm deeply interested in how Society's needs are created and how they change, that's why I decided to study Political Sciences and Law and started to reflect those facts into statistical reports: qualitative-and-quantitative Content Analysis, journalistic articles and essays. To do so, I'm used to handling social databases as well as Social and Mass Media content comparisons and personal interviews. I always try to learn and improve, personally and professionally, and being able to synthesize different data and knowledge in a single project might be one of my strongest points.
